Binder supplies high-performance, precision-engineered pipe supports for critical industries worldwide.

A division of Australian manufacturer Swift Metal, Binder Group offers a product range which includes rigid hanger supports, pipe saddles, shoes & stops, variable and constant load spring supports, multilock systems, dynamic restraints, and cryogenic supports.

Our new product AeroX® is a pipe support system that enables the use of aerogel insulation within a structural support assembly. The system integrates aerogel insulation and multiple vapour barrier membranes with a load-bearing cradle for cryogenic piping applications.

With decades of expertise in pipe supports, our solutions are trusted across the oil & gas, energy, mining, petrochemical, and infrastructure sectors, backed by rigorous engineering, industry-leading testing, and quality assurance. We collaborate closely with engineers, specifiers, and project teams to deliver fit-for-purpose, high-reliability solutions designed for all loads, extreme temperatures, and corrosive environments.
