

Looking for a better way to manage your sanitary disposal?

- No more costly contracts
- Say goodbye to service delays
- Save money
- Take control of your washroom

FACTS

- Work Safe Australia requires all workplaces to provide sanitary units.
- EPA* classifies sanitary waste as General Solid Waste. This means it can be disposed just like regular waste.

* Environmental Protection Authority

SaniPod™ was designed with DIY sanitary disposal in mind. The user-friendly liner system means you or your cleaning provider can service the sanitary units with absolutely zero exposure to waste. It's safe, it's hygienic, it's simple.

You no longer have to wait for a specialist company to swoop in and save the day when units need servicing. You can get on top of it right away and have full control to keep your washroom and business reputation intact!

Zero exposure to waste - so it's safe to use and safe to service

Take control of your washroom - save time, money and hassle
