Pac Food specialises in developing cost-effective and, wherever possible, environmentally friendly food packaging products for commercial kitchens of all sizes: from cafés to restaurants, from aged care to hospital kitchens, and from catering to manufacturing. We specialise in maximising the shelf life of food products through the proven cook-chill method. As experts in sous vide cooking, we offer one of Australia's largest ranges of packaging solutions designed specifically for sous vide applications. We are also proud to lead the way in innovation, providing sustainable meal trays that set new standards in both convenience and environmental responsibility.
